International law affects countless areas of society, business and government. From 2015, UWA will offer the Graduate Diploma and Master in International Law, courses designed to equip you for an international future.

Taught by a team of international experts from four continents, you will develop a sound understanding of the theory and practice of international law and how international institutions work.

The courses are suited to both the current law practitioner and those pursuing a career in government, non-government and private institutions where international law is present.

Study for both courses begins with core units in the foundations of international law, theory, method and contemporary issues, as well as international criminal and human rights law.

Students of the Masters can then specialise by electing units from a range of areas including environmental, natural resources and World Trade Organisation law as well as elect a research project which will provide a pathway to further studies.

Transform your career

- Attain an understanding of the theory and practice of international law and how international institutions work
- Whilst studying for the Masters you can choose electives which enable you to focus on an area of international law which matches your interests
- Enhanced access to career opportunities in an internationalised employment market
- Cultivate a network within the international law community by engaging with practitioners and experts throughout your study
- Benefit from UWA’s links with the international legal community

law.uwa.edu.au/courses/postgrad
Course structure and study options

The courses comprise of either 24 credit points (GradDip) or 48 credit points (Masters) study and can be undertaken either full-time or part-time. Students can commence their studies by enrolling in the GradDip and providing they attain a weighted average mark of at least 60%, articulate into the Masters.

The core units which make up the GradDip and the first semester of the Masters consist of:

- Foundations of Public International Law (6 points)
- Theory, Method and Contemporary Issues of International Law (6 points)
- International Criminal Law (6 points)
- International Human Rights Law (6 points)

Masters students then select electives to the value of 24 points from units including:

- International Humanitarian Law (6 points)
- World Trade Organisation Law (6 points)
- International Environmental Law (6 points)
- Climate Change Law and Emissions Trading (6 points)
- International Oil and Gas Law (6 points)
- Heritage Governance: From Global to Local (6 points)
- Research Papers (6 or 12 points)

Admission requirements (GradDip)

To be eligible for admission, you must meet the following requirements:

- a bachelor’s degree in a cognate (related) area with a weighted average mark of at least 60%, or equivalent as recognised by the Faculty; or
- a level and duration of education as well as a minimum of two years of professional experience considered by the Faculty to be sufficient to permit satisfactory completion of the course.

Admission requirements (Masters)

- a bachelor’s degree in a cognate (related) area with a weighted average mark of at least 65%, or equivalent as recognised by the Faculty; or
- the Graduate Diploma in International Law of this University with a weighted average mark of at least 60%; or
- the Juris Doctor of this University, or equivalent as recognised by the Faculty; or
- completion of a minimum of 48 credits points towards the Master of International Relations of this University.

Applications

Australian and New Zealand residents can apply for entry via:

GradDip: studyat.uwa.edu.au/gd/int-law
Masters: studyat.uwa.edu.au/m/int-law

International students can apply by contacting the International Centre at pg-international@uwa.edu.au

Why a UWA Law qualification?

- UWA is in the top 1% of World Universities, currently ranked 91st in the Academic Ranking of World Universities and the only Western Australian University part of the prestigious Australian Group of Eight.
- UWA is member of the Worldwide Universities Network of 16 member universities from across four continents and is also a member of the Matariki Network of Universities, a global group of high-quality universities across seven nations.
- The Law School has over 80 years of academic excellence – graduates have built rewarding careers in the legal, government, education, business and the not-for-profit sectors.
- UWA Law alumni have attained success at the highest levels and include a former Prime Minister, Ministers for Foreign Affairs, Trade and Defence, Chief Justices of the High Court and State Supreme Courts, Attorneys-General and Solicitors-General.
- Awards and honours conferred on UWA Law alumni include Australian of the Year, Rhodes Scholarships and the Order of Australia.

Faculty of Law
The University of Western Australia
M253, 35 Stirling Highway
Crawley WA 6009
Tel: +61 8 6488 2945
Fax: +61 8 6488 1045
law.edu.au
For course enquiries visit ask.uwa.edu.au